Frank Sinatra Said to Offer Assistance to CIA Recently

Post 4/16/71

BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—Entertainer Frank Sinatra offered to help the Central Intelligence Agency in a direct proposal to CIA Director George Bush two months ago, the Boston Globe said.

The newspaper said the offer was made at a gathering in the New York apartment of Bush's brother, Jonathan, head of a brokerage firm.

The Globe quoted Jonathan Bush as saying Sinatra spoke of his love for his family and the United States, and made a "very sincere and generous offer" to help the CIA in any way possible.

The story said Sinatra did a lot of world traveling, met a number of notables, including the shah of Iran and Prince Philip of England, and thought he might be useful to the CIA.